Part III - Analysis and Statement of the Reasons for Detention
After considering the factors set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 3142(g) and the information presented at the detention hearing the Court concludes that the defendant must be detained pending trial because the Government has proven:

In addition to any findings made on the record at the hearing, the reasons for detention include the following:
<ul> <li>☑ Weight of evidence against the defendant is strong</li> <li>☑ Subject to lengthy period of incarceration if convicted</li> <li>☐ Prior criminal history</li> <li>☐ Participation in criminal activity while on probation, parole, or supervision</li> <li>☐ History of violence or use of weapons</li> <li>☐ History of alcohol or substance abuse</li> <li>☐ Lack of stable employment</li> <li>☐ Lack of stable residence</li> </ul>

OTHER REASONS OR FURTHER EXPLANATION:

Compelling evidence showed that Defendant John Sblendorio, acting on behalf of the Bandidos, a notorious and violent motorcycle gang, participated in the attempted execution of the member of a rival gang upon which the Bandidos had declared "war." No conditions would adequately protect the public if he were released pending trial.

In the early morning hours of June 3, 2023, Defendant and another member of the "Welcome to Hell" chapter of the Bandidos, pulled their truck alongside a member of the Brothers East gang (a/k/a "Beast") on a city street. The passenger, Steven Alms, opened fire from the passenger-side window, striking the victim seven times. Miraculously, the victim survived. Defendant drove the truck from which the shots were fired.

This was a coordinated attack. A Bandidos member had alerted the chapter's Sergeant at Arms, co-Defendant Darvi Hinjosa, that Beast members were seen at a local bar. At Hinojosa's instruction, Defendant and Alms drove from different points to meet each other, with Defendant ultimately driving Alms's truck and tracking down the victim who had left the bar. This was shown through calls between Hinojosa, Defendant, and Alms; cell-site data; and other material evidence.

These acts of hunting another person to advance the objectives of a violent gang, standing alone, show that Defendant is highly dangerous. But days before his arrest in this case, Defendant also attacked his girlfriend. She fled to a neighbor's house for help, crying hysterically, after Defendant choked her, threw her to the floor, and took her phone. Photos corroborate the assault.

Given Defendant's violent conduct—both at the behest of a criminal enterprise, and even towards those closest to him—his proposals to post security and have his mother serve as a third-party custodian are wholly inadequate to provide reasonable assurances that the public would be safe if he were released. Defendant's demonstrated willingness to kill at the Bandidos' behest, just to elevate the gang's dominance, overrides any notion that he would comply with any conditions that this Court could impose. Accordingly, it is ORDERED that Defendant John Sblendorio be DETAINED pending trial.

Part IV - Directions Regarding Detention

The defendant is remanded to the custody of the Attorney General or to the Attorney General's designated representative for confinement in a corrections facility separate, to the extent practicable, from persons awaiting or serving sentences or being held in custody pending appeal. The defendant must be afforded a reasonable opportunity for private consultation with defense counsel. On order of a court of the United States or on request of an attorney for the Government, the person in charge of the corrections facility must deliver the defendant to a United States Marshal for the purpose of an appearance in connection with a court proceeding.
